DIRECTING

FILM

2023	Without Them I Am Lost	(Feature-length Documentary)	Square Top Theatre
------	-------------------------------	------------------------------	--------------------

Without Them I Am Lost is a meditation on landscape and the shape of home. The story follows American writer, Damon Falke, as he considers the implications of migrating to the far north of Norway, above the Arctic Circle. The people he finds thrive in this place. They understand the sublime power of nature. Their lives and stories are shaped by it. Without Them I Am Lost offers a glimpse into a community clinging to a fragile coastline in a rapidly changing world. The film was directed by Charles M Pepiton, features cinematography by Rebekah Wilkins-Pepiton, music by Tana Bachman-Bland, and was edited by Darrien Mack. It was shot on location in Northern Norway.

Climbing Eros takes place on a Greek island in the Saronic Gulf. The short film explores the stages of pilgrimage through the eyes of director Charles M Pepiton and his young son who walk the island—from the deserted lighthouse on one end to the peak of Mt. Eros—whilst artist Rebekah Wilkins-Pepiton collects botanicals to create inks for painting. Each finds a means to reconcile with loss and return to the earth and to themselves. The film features two meditations written for the film by Damon Falke—one of confession, one of returning to materiality—that knit the threads of hiking and gathering around Jean-Luc Marion's notion that "Loving requires distance and the crossing of distance." The film features an original score composed by Tana Bachman-Bland. Edited by Darrien Mack.

A film that negotiates the border between documenting and storytelling. Filmed in the far north of Norway, Koppmoll follows the writer Damon Falke as he visits a family whose lives have been touched by change and memories of World War II. While considering his own need for place, Falke is introduced to places and stories that speak of home, family, loss, and a nearly forgotten war. Koppmoll is about the act of turning over one stone and finding a world where lives and landscapes are inseparable, where history is present. Koppmoll is directed by Charles M Pepiton, filmed by Wes Kline, written by Damon Falke, edited by Darrien Mack, with translation provided by Kristine Fostervold, and features music by Camilla Ammirati.

2016 Laura, or Scenes from a Common World (Experimental) Square Top Theatre

A cinematic poem combining visceral physicality, lyrical poetry, and evocative cinematography to tell the story of one woman's struggle to overcome her wounded past and her steps toward empathy. Inspired by Ovid's Apollo & Daphne myth, Laura struggles to root herself in a foreign land and to embrace the quiet consequence of the common world around her. Featuring contributions by writer Damon Falke, artist/musician Wes Kline, printmaker/producer Rebekah Wilkins-Pepiton, performer Alexandra Kazazou, and movement specialist Daniel Han.

ORIGINAL WORK / STAGE PREMIERES / INTERDISCIPLINARY PERFORMANCE

2023 A Symposium (Devised/Premiere) Plato Gonzaga University

- An ensemble-based original performance created alongside Dr. Danielle Layne (GU Philosophy) and undergraduates in the combined Philosophy in Performance course during the Spring 2023 semester. The show explores Plato's dialogue alongside intersectional theorists as filtered through the lens of contemporary college students. It was performed as part of the 2023 Ancient Philosophers' Conference.

2023 Gently As We Go (Stage Premiere) Damon Falke LoKo Arts Festival / SUNY-Potsdam

- A commissioned performance, the Gently as We Go event combined a film screening (dir. Megan MacDonald) and live performance (dir. Charles M Pepiton) of the same text, facilitating an analysis of performance across mediums. Both productions were set in the intimacy of a single room where two young people navigated the shifting insecurities of early love, and the pull of a landscape shared between them.

2019 The Scent of a Thousand Rains (Stage Adaptation/Premiere) Damon Falke Square Top Theatre

- A site-specific performance piece in verse for an actor and a violinist and an exploration of a life lived in pursuit, the show suggests that perhaps in a life of transience and loss, love and imagination are the only things that remain to us and of us. Recipient of a 2019 SAGA grant from Spokane Arts. Produced with Spokane Public Radio, Spokane Public Library, and Washington State Parks. Included a live radio broadcast.
 - Restaged by request for the Hockaday Museum of Art, Kalispell, MT - June 18, 2022
 - Re-broadcast on Montana Public Radio - June 18, 2022

2018 Coming Home: A Soldiers' Project (Devised/Premiere) Kathleen Jeffs Gonzaga University

- A documentary, verbatim theatre production exploring oral histories of veterans' homecoming and the experiences of what it is like returning from war to Spokane and Gonzaga. A story of transitions: from base to basketball, from service to civilian.
